

Things That Go Bump In A Canadian Night

by Ronald Wolf

Blythewood Manor Bed & Breakfast

4761 Zimmerman Ave., Niagara Falls, Ont.

Any paranormal researcher knows that the region of Niagara Falls, Ont. is a hot spot for those that bump in a Canadian night.

"When Stef (Stefanie) and I first found the place (the building) we fell in love with it. We had a short tour of the inside and came back later to have a proper tour with the real estate agent. It was at that time we both sensed a female spirit at the top of the stairs and later we both agreed that she felt sad," recalled Wayne Mallows, owner.

"When we moved in, things seemed to be a lot more peaceful than when we first began looking at the place."

Mallows said he had spoken with a friend who had a long time friend who was a medium and she in turn had contacted me about the house.

She told me many things about the previous owners and also told me the spirit woman was very pleased with me, that I had good manners. She went on to tell me that there was a hidden treasure in the house but then cautioned me that it may only be a child's toy that had been lost but had been valuable to him or her, said Mallows.

"When I was working on the garage one afternoon I thought to myself, 'I wonder what the treasure is?' I was up on a ladder and at that moment, I heard a woman's voice say in my right ear; "the house is the treasure.""

It was so real I actually turned to see who it was that had spoke to me and realized I was up 15 feet and quite alone."

I saw the figure of a woman walk through the kitchen from when the old servant's stairs used to be, (they're still there but closed off) and move towards what was once the kitchen pantry. She was solid and dark in colour. She had what appeared to me as having her hair up. I could only see her upper body as the kitchen table and chairs blocked her lower half from my view. I saw her while I was sitting in the living room which opens onto the dining room and a short hallway joins the dining room to the kitchen, noted Wayne.

The Mallows would often smell cigar smoke on the veranda and in the living room, which was originally the gentleman's smoking room.

Stef would often smell a rose-like fragrance on the first floor on numerous occasions. We do not use any rose scented cleaners or air fresheners, added Mallow.

"One night Stef thought my son, Stephen, was coming into the kitchen from the dining room. So real was this image that she said hello to him then carried on talking to me. After a moment she looked into the hallway to see why he had not come into the kitchen, there was no one there.

"The door that leads to the kitchen from the dining room makes a very distinctive noise when it's opened or closed over. Many a night while in bed we hear that door open and close again," finished Wayne.

Some spirits might become angered when new people move into their abode. In this case, it is the reverse. The spirit of a woman seems to become less stressed if spirits do have human emotions.

To get the entire sense of this haunting and to get caught up on what you may have missed visit www.wolftthewriter.com or visit the Mallows' website at www.blythewoodmanor.com